Outbreaks Near Riot Stage

Poughkeepsie, Albany Feel It

By Walter S. Clark
Outbreaks of trouble that neared the riot stage occurred Thursday night and early today at Poughkeepsie, Albany and Peekskill. Bands of youths raced noisily through the main business districts. Bottles and bricks and stones were hurled at passing motorists.
Some Looting
Windows were smashed in many business establishments. The crowds taunted helmeted police and deputy sheriffs. Some looting was reported. There were no shots fired and as far as could be seen no trace of firebombs was uncovered in the three cities.
Poughkeepsie police reported at least eight arrests for disorderly conduct. One youth was booked for burglary.
Albany authorities said 40 arrests had been made. They were charged with inciting to riot, Albany area hospitals treated at least 10 persons for various injuries. Gangs in the upstate city ranged from 10 to 25. One Molotov cocktail, a bottle filled with gasoline, was hurled at a store.

Peekskill police reported 15 to 20 arrests.
Taverns were ordered closed to prevent further outbreaks as full forces of police, many armed with riot guns and tear gas circled the trouble areas and closed in to disperse the mobs.
It was reported that a Wappingers Falls man was stricken with a fatal heart attack, brought on by excitement that highlighted the incident in the Dutchess County city.
In Poughkeepsie 150 youths streamed out of a dance hall and rushed noisily back and forth on Main Street, breaking store windows. Most of the youths were negroes, police said. City Manager Theodore Maurer called it a "teenage disturbance." Police Lt. Leo Maneri said the eight arrested were negroes.

Windows were smashed in 12 stores — three of them liquor stores. There was some looting. The full force of police responded to emergency calls to duty and Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinn ordered deputies into the city to aid in quelling the disturbance.
Police blocked off a portion of Main Street until order was restored at about 1 a. m.
In Albany bands of Negro youths, some marching in formation and chanting "Black Power, Soul Brother," roamed through the capital city's downtown, smashing windows and looting, according to The Associated Press.

Beefed-up police patrols, armed with riot guns and augmented by Albany County deputies, drove the gangs from the business district and then moved into two predominately Negro areas flanking the downtown section to restore relative peace at about 3 a. m.
The incident was the first major outbreak of racial vandalism in Albany. Gangs congregated on street corners on the lower south and north sides, flanking the city's business district within sight of the State Capitol.
Windows in more than a score of Albany business places were shattered by bricks, stones and bottles hurled by the youths. Looting did not reach a general scale. A liquor store and clothing shop were among places where looting was reported.
Bus Service Withdrawn
Bus service was withdrawn throughout Albany. Helmeted police were posted on street corners. Many were armed with shotguns. There were more than 20 fire alarms. Most were false. Few minor blazes were discovered, but there was no indication firebombs were thrown.
White persons, most of them young men, drove along various Albany streets, some shouting derisive remarks at Negroes on the sidewalks. Traffic in the downtown area presented a serious problem. Most of the city's top-ranking officials, including Democratic Mayor Erastus Corning, convened in police headquarters during the outbreak.
In Peekskill, about 200 youths raced through the business district. Chief of Police Albert Vitolo said, "all were Negro except one white" in the group of 15 to 20 arrested.
About 75 law enforcement officers including 30 Peekskill policemen, 20 Westchester County sheriff's deputies and 24 Westchester Parkway officers took about two hours to bring the mob under control.
Police reported about 30 windows broken. They said there was virtually no looting.
Chief Vitolo said he did not know what caused the outbreak. He said he would meet with city officials today to request a curfew tonight.
Police in the three cities where the incidents occurred last night today reportedly were preparing to stiffen protective procedures to be alert for any future disturbances.

Riot Caldron Cools; LBJ in Peace Plea

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
The caldron of civil disorder cooled noticeably across the nation today as both the number and intensity of disturbances diminished. President Johnson proclaimed Sunday a national day of prayer for racial peace.
President Johnson appoints an 11-man Blue Ribbon commission to investigate riot causes. See Story Page 5.
Detroit had only isolated incidents as it passed its quietest night since racial terror began there Sunday. The death toll remained at 38 and a curfew was enforced primarily to discourage curiosity seekers.

Mayor Jerome Cavanaugh, on a tour of his riot-torn city, was caught in a crossfire today as police and National Guardsmen attacked a sniper nest with rifles and tear gas.
No more than a dozen shots in all were fired in the assault on an apartment house near the heart of the main riot section just off 12th street on the near West Side.
No one was hurt. The sniper or snipers slipped away.
The President, addressing the nation on television and radio Thursday night, named an 11-member commission to search out the causes of the summer rioting and suggest ways to avoid it in the future.
"We have endured a week such as no nation should live through: a time of violence and tragedy," Johnson said. "The violence must be stopped; quickly, finally and permanently."

Henceforth all National Guard units will be given intensified riot control training, he said, to better enable them to deal with the outbreaks.
Johnson also took the occasion to hit back at GOP critics who have blamed him for the rioting, citing the defeat of the anti-riot bill last week by a largely Republican House majority vote.
Saying the legislation would have helped root out "conditions that breed despair and violence," he noted: "A government that has spent millions to protect baby calves from worms can surely afford to show the same concern for baby boys and girls."
Gangs of young Negroes rampaged through the business districts of Albany, Poughkeepsie and Peekskill, N.Y., Thursday night, smashing windows and taunting passersby, but the out-

Rondout Group Blasts Housing Regulations

The Kingston Housing Authority and its eligibility requirements came under attack at a special meeting of the Rondout Community Action Committee Thursday night.
Alexander Yosman, executive director of KHA, said in a statement in Tuesday's Freeman that "in many instances minority families from the urban renewal area as well as the City of Kingston have refused apartments even though they were determined eligible."
The Rev. James Priest, chairman of the Rondout Community Action Committee, told The Freeman this morning, "I don't know of anyone refusing public housing when offered."
The Rev. Mr. Priest said that KHA regulations are "too stringent" and ruled out a large percentage of persons from minority groups.
The Hone Street Progressive Baptist Church pastor spoke of KHA regulations in regards to separate rooms for children of the opposite sex. "For instance," he said, "When a family with, say, two girls, has a baby boy, that child is not allowed to sleep in the same room with the girls. The family must apply for an apartment with an additional room. If the apartment isn't available, they must get out of public housing."

The Rev. Mr. Priest agreed with Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's statement that Yosman and the housing authority should not be the sole judge of eligibility for public housing and that a community panel should set criteria.
The Rev. Mr. Priest said he would serve on such a panel if he were requested. He felt that the panel should be bi-racial and should represent a cross-section of minority groups.
Albert Brown, community organizer and director of the Rondout Center, told The Freeman this morning that there should be at least one voting member of the minority groups on both the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency and the Kingston Housing Authority.
At present there is one opening on the urban renewal agency. The term of David Schechter expired June 30. Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan has not appointed anyone to fill that position and according to KURA regulations, Schechter serves until the Mayor does appoint someone.
The Kingston Housing Authority term of Benjamin A. Storms expires Nov. 29 of this year.
Meetings with Mayor Garrahan by members of the Community Action Committee are planned in the near future.

Vote College Fund; Budget Up $4,934

A budget totaling $1,189,895 for the Ulster County Community College for 1967-68 was approved Thursday night at a special meeting of the County Board of Supervisors after a public hearing which was attended by a few area taxpayers.
The budget for the next year shows an increase of $4,934 above the current operating budget.
Trustees Complimented
Board Chairman Peter Savago of New Paltz conducted the hearing attended by 17 town supervisors. Savago and other board members highly complimented college trustees for keeping the anticipated expenses for next year at a minimum.
It was noted during discussion by board members that the college trustees did an exceptionally good job in preparing the budget with such a small increase, despite the fact that the college will move to larger and modern quarters at Stone Ridge in the Fall, and the fact that the full-time faculty will be increased by 11 professional employees, from 41 to 52 in order to maintain the same student-faculty ratio of 16.8 students to each faculty member.
One of the questions asked was how the budget could show so little increase in the face of increased costs and the larger faculty.

Dr. George B. Erbstein, president, who with Dean Robert Brown, dean of Administration and Chairman Reginald Every and Adrian Kaplan of the finance committee, represented the trustees, explained that the increased enrollment estimated at 876 full time students and 800 part time students was one factor. A surplus from last year and the fact that 25 per cent of the students were from out of the county and would be paying the higher non-resident fee were other factors in maintaining the modest budget for operation of the college.

While the gross operating budget is $1,189,895, revenues together with surpluses makes necessary raising only $233,990 through local taxes. Estimated revenues are $851,294 and anticipated expenses are $1,085,284. (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

Strenuous objection was made by Supervisor Majestic who sought to amend the Dye resolution, and amid his demands that he be heard, he was ruled out of order.
Majestic attempted to strike out the name of Albert E. Milliken and open the appointment of an architect to "all area architects."
After much confusion, County Attorney Abram F. Molyneux ruled Majestic's attempt to amend out of order since a vote on the motion to remove the resolution from the table had been called for after being seconded. Majestic intimated he would appeal from (Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

Board Votes 20-12 On Infirmary Study

Following the calm approval of the Ulster County Community College budget by the unanimous vote of the 31 supervisors present, fireworks developed on the question of engaging an architect to make a study and prepare cost estimates for the building of a permanent Ulster County Infirmary.
The resolution was eventually approved 20 to 12.
At the July meeting Major Douglas Dye, Town of Kingston Republican, offered a resolution calling for the engagement of Kingston Architect Albert E. Milliken to compile the figures necessary to determine the space requirement for such a facility for the County of Ulster, and to prepare cost estimates for the building of such infirmary on county-owned property.

Hotly Debated
That resolution was hotly debated and on motion of Democratic Supervisor George Majestic of Gardiner, it was tabled by a vote of 16 to 14 when Majestic called for further study and opening the engagement of an architect to all local architects.
At Thursday's special meeting it was moved to remove the Dye resolution from the table and vote on it.

Strenuous objection was made by Supervisor Majestic who sought to amend the Dye resolution, and amid his demands that he be heard, he was ruled out of order.
Majestic attempted to strike out the name of Albert E. Milliken and open the appointment of an architect to "all area architects."

Viet Gallantry Cited

Local GI Receives Silver Star

Army Sgt. John F. Weigert Jr., 20, son of John F. Weigert Sr., of 132 Second Avenue, has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action in Vietnam. The Silver Star is the nation's third highest military award.
Sgt. Weigert is home on leave after completing a year's tour of duty in Vietnam July 21. After 30 days leave, the 1965 graduate of Kingston High School will be stationed in Fort Knox, Ky.
Pretty Lucky
"I was pretty lucky," was Sgt. Weigert's only comment on the Oct. 2 ambush that saw two members of his seven-man squad killed and one wounded. The citation accompanying the medal reads:
"Private First Class Weigert distinguished himself by exceptionally valorous action on 2 October 1966, while serving as a grenadier with Troop A, 1st Squadron, 9th Cavalry during an engagement with a hostile force along the Nvot Ngot Bay and Peninsula, Republic of Vietnam.
Searching
Private Weigert was searching a series of hedgerows and trenches when his squad became pinned down by fire from two North Vietnamese Army machine gun positions and several automatic weapons."
"Private Weigert crawled through the intense hostile fire and exposed himself numerous times as he inched his way across 25 meters of flat sandy terrain while moving toward a position on the flank of an enemy machine gun bunker. After throwing a hand grenade into the bunker, Private Weigert crawled up to the emplacement, reached inside and obtained an enemy weapon. Placing himself above the bunker, exposed to intense hostile fire, he fired point blank into the position, killing three enemy machine gunners."

Squad Moves
"Due to Private Weigert's courageous action, his squad was able to move to covered positions and continue with its mission. Private Weigert's gallant action in close combat is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service, and reflects great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army."
In addition to the Silver Star, Sgt. Weigert holds the Combat Infantryman's Badge, the Army Air Medal, the Vietnamese Service Medal, the Vietnamese Campaign Medal and a Presidential Unit Citation Medal. He is due for discharge in February of next year.

40th Woodstock Library Fair—Beats All Records

Thousands of area and summer residents flocked to the 40th Annual Woodstock Library Fair Thursday. Mrs. Monroe Longendyke this year's chairman said today that the 1967 installment "beat all our records. I'd say at least 5,000 were here." The donkey at the left has become a traditional feature of the annual event and observed Thursday throughout the festivities, which lasted from 10:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. Prizes were awarded amounting to $1,500 in bonds. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Potentially Explosive

Neo-Nazis to Newburgh

The neo-Nazi National Renaissance Party (NRP) plan to stage their rally in Newburgh Saturday "no matter what," but a National Association for Advancement of Colored People counter-demonstration has been canceled "in light of community interests."

Jumping Off Base

Tyrone Crabb, temporary director of Newburgh's NAACP, declared Thursday that because of community interests his group was calling off plans to wage a counter-demonstration against the militant NRP.

Plattekill GOP Plans Barbecue

The annual Town of Plattekill Republican Club picnic and barbecue will be held Sunday at Klein's Lake on Unionville Road, Plattekill.

John Klein, town Republican chairman, announced that over 400 tickets have already been sold and that over 500 are expected to attend. Klein has suggested that anyone planning to go but has not purchased a ticket, to contact one of the Republican Club officers immediately.

The barbecue, which includes chicken with all the trimmings, corn, watermelon and refreshments, will start at 3 p. m. However, the grounds will open earlier for swimming and canoeing. Klein's Lake is located off Unionville Road, about two miles from the Plattekill-Ardonia Road.

Klein, who was recently elected treasurer of the Ulster County Republican party, reports that county party officers and county Republican candidates running for office will attend the picnic and barbecue. Family groups may attend. Children 6 to 12 years will pay half price and children under six will be allowed free.

In case of rain the barbecue will be held Saturday, Aug. 5, at the same place and time.

The Portuguese introduced the folding fan to Europe in the 1500's.

Acting Police Chief H. D. Masland has termed the situation "potentially explosive."

The NRP's national director, James H. Madole, formerly of Dutchess County, now of New York City, said he intends to use Newburgh as a base to spread the neo-Nazi philosophy up the Hudson Valley.

He said, "Poughkeepsie is next." He indicated his group would come into most cities in the valley. Whether Kingston was included could not be determined.

Officially, Newburgh authorities are remaining tight-lipped and glum. However, Chief Mas-land confided, "No decision has yet been reached whether to invoke a fire ordinance prohibiting the rally in the courthouse on the grounds there aren't enough fire exits."

A State Court of Appeals ruled June 15 that the NRP is a political party and has the right to use the courthouse.

City Manager Paul L. McCauley reveals a team of building inspectors and fire officers had examined the building. There is no word whether it has been condemned.

An American Civil Liberties Union attorney, Jeremiah Gutman of New York City, said he would seek court action to open the courthouse if the city refused the meeting on the basis there weren't adequate fire escapes.

Madole noted, "Apparently its safe for the Republicans, Democrats and Conservatives. The city is using an old ordinance to block our meeting."

Madole acknowledged his organization plans to move upstate, town by town, city by city. He added that there were 4,000 members of his cult that was founded in 1949 by the German-American Republican League and other citizen's organizations.

Award - Winning Trooper to Be Sgt.

Recipient of two top awards including the Kingston News-papers Guild's 1967 Page One Award for Bravery, State Trooper Stanley Kowalik of the Highland substation, is slated for a promotion to sergeant on Aug. 3.

Paltz Resident

Trooper Kowalik is among a large number of members of the State Police Department who will be promoted in the ranks next week. The announcement is expected to be made by Supt. Arthur Cornelius Jr.

Kowalik also was the second winner of the New York Daily News Distinguished Award earlier this year. This award has been established to "focus public attention on the outstanding job performed by the New York State Police and to recognize in some measure the individual achievement of troopers in the line of duty."

The trooper, who resides with his family at 86 Schreiber Lane, New Paltz, figured in a bullet-punctuated chase after two wanted armed fugitives after he was shot by one of the pair near Ellenville last October 6, 1966, in front of Smith's Garage at Nanaucho.

On the night of the shooting incident, Kowalik was on patrol when he spotted two suspicious men in a red station wagon in front of the Smith gas station. As the trooper walked toward the vehicle to question the occupants he was fired upon three times.

Kowalik whipped out his revolver and ducked to avoid the bullets but one hit his upper left arm. The station wagon sped away with Kowalik in hot pursuit. He radioed headquarters and reported he was chasing the car and an exchange of shots followed.

The driver of the pursued vehicle lost control on a hairpin curve and it crashed. The fugitive fled through the darkness on foot.

Massive Manhunt

Eighty uniformed troopers and more than a dozen BCI investigators were dispatched to the area and one of the greatest manhunts was launched for the pair. They were subsequently apprehended and identified as Wesley Allen Brown, 31, of Spencerville, Md., and Ray Edison Davis 25, of Texas.

Brown, who was accused of firing at Kowalik, was sentenced in February by County Judge Raymond J. Mino to a term of not less than 7½ years in Clinton State Prison. Davis had previously been sentenced to the prison for 3½ to 7 years.

House Group Action

Medicaid Faces Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal aid for New York State's Medicaid program would be cut under an agreement reportedly reached Thursday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The cutback would be even deeper than that proposed by the Johnson administration. The measure, which provides stricter eligibility requirements would hit 11 others of the 21 states that have adopted the supplemental medical care programs for the medically needy.

The Johnson administration proposed that eligibility for federal payments be cut off after Dec. 31, 1967, to individuals and families whose incomes exceed by more than 50 per cent the highest income standards used by the state for welfare payments.

The committee would move this date to July 1, 1968 but add two other steps—Aid would be lowered the following Jan. 1 to individuals and families with incomes 40 per cent above the welfare level, and on Jan. 1, 1970, to those 33 1-3 per cent above welfare levels.

Under the New York plan, a family of four with a gross income of up to $6,000 is eligible for payment of its medical bills, after allowances.

The committee and the administration proposes, in this example, to cut eligibility for federal aid to $4,400. Other steps proposed by the committee would cut it back to $4,100 and finally to $3,900.

The committee's deliberations were recessed until next Tuesday to permit the rewording of the proposal into legislative language. The measure remains subject to amendment, however.

Federal costs of the program have soared past original estimates and are expected to reach $3 billion a year at current rates when all 50 states adopt programs.

The administration proposal would have lowered the annual federal cost to $1.9 billion, the committee measure to $1.4 billion.

The other 11 states to be affected are California, Delaware, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Maryland, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Nebraska and Wisconsin. The nine other states that have programs, but with requirements stricter than those proposed, are Connecticut, Hawaii, Kansas, Massachusetts, Minnesota, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Utah and Washington.

The committee's proposals are included in an extensive Social Security revision, which may win final committee approval next week.

Ulster Firemen To Distribute Fair Books

Nick J. Valenzano, chairman of the Ulster Hose Co. 5 fund-raising committee, said today that members of the committee will canvass the Ulster Fifth Fire District Saturday and Sunday to distribute fair books to residents of the area.

He explained that the purpose of the fair books is to allow all residents of the fire district an opportunity to contribute to the fund-raising campaign. Contributions will be used to help defray the expenses of the 1969 annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, and for the proposed addition to the firehouse on Albany Avenue Extension.

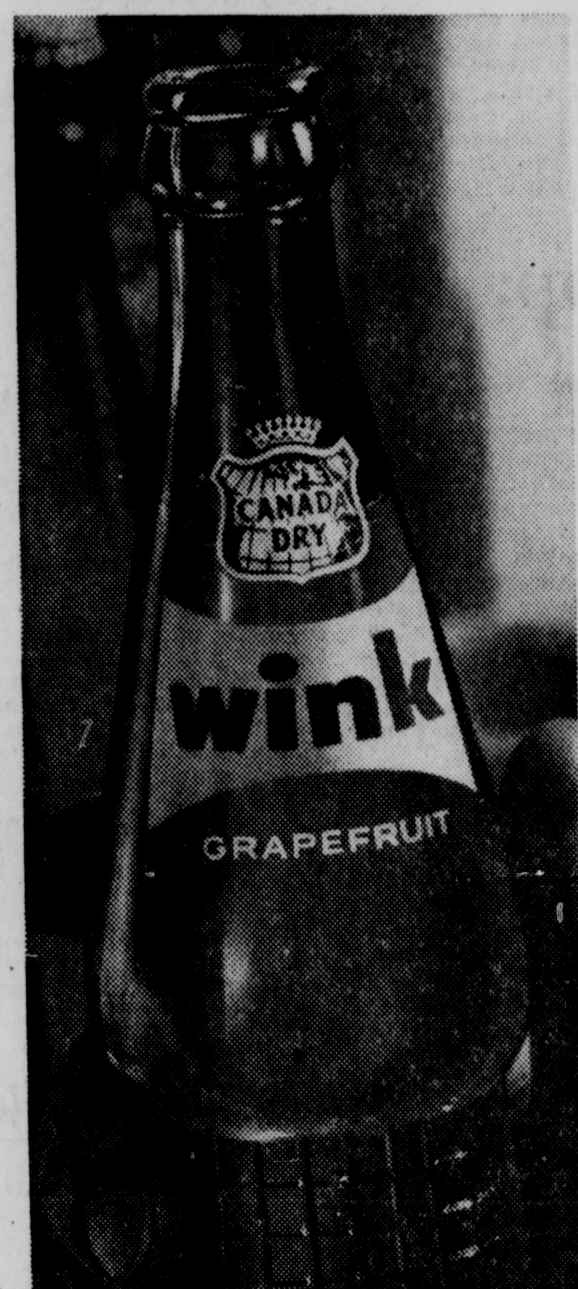

Valenzano said preliminary estimates for the costs of the project will be in the neighborhood of $25,000 to extend the rear of the fire headquarters to quarter the most modern fire protection equipment in the rapidly growing fire district.

A Movement Degenerates

Too many Americans, both black and white, have lost sight of what the civil rights movement — or Negro revolution, or racial crisis, call it what you will — is all about, if ever they understood it.

Is not its aim, basically and ultimately, to create a society which affords all its members the fullest possible opportunity to work and live and learn and to realize their potential as human beings, insofar as they are able, regardless of what color skin they wear?

Too many Americans, both black and white, seem willing to wash that dream down the drain of history, if ever they believed in it.

In almost the same breath, the U.S. House of Representatives enthusiastically passed a dubious antiriot bill to treat the symptoms of Newark and Detroit and a dozen other cities, but ridiculed a plan to exterminate the rats which outnumber even the Negroes in those cities' teeming slums.

At a "black power" conference in Newark hundreds of angry Negro activists talked of hate and boycotts and armed rebellion, of withdrawal and actual separation from white America — and in so doing warmed the hearts of fanatics of both colors who would like nothing better than the "final solution" of open civil war between white and black.

It is to be hoped that the vast majority of Americans, both black and white, have too much good sense — and good will — to permit the civil rights movement to degenerate to this level.

Despite setbacks and an agonizingly slow pace, immense progress has been made in the past decade. Negroes — too few of them, but more and more of them — are beginning to attain the education and jobs and living standards that were denied their fathers. Doors of opportunity are beginning to open a little wider each year.

More importantly, men's hearts are changing. The Negro is no longer the "invisible man" in American society. He is gaining an appreciation of his own worth, and by doing it is forcing the white man to appreciate that worth as well.

The extremists, the fanatics, the haters on both sides are wrong. They must be repudiated. Americans, both black and white, have come too far, have too much to lose and too much to gain, to allow their hearts to be hardened once more.

Teachers Talking Tougher

Teachers are talking tougher.

The National Education Association (NEA), with one million members, endorsed a more militant and aggressive attitude at its annual convention this month.

Resolutions approved by the 6,500 delegates:

Agreed to support affiliates that strike school systems by providing funds, legal advice, staffs, and "all the services at its command."

Attacked de facto segregation caused by residential patterns.

Called for free public education for children starting at age 4.

Urged general rather than categorical federal aid to schools.

The strike policy reflects a "new look" for an association formerly thought of as mild-mannered. In the past, "work stoppages" were described as "unprofessional."

This convention also unanimously endorsed a resolution giving full support to the Florida Education Association which has imposed sanctions on the state's public schools.

As for de facto segregation, the resolution urged "bold experimentation" with student busing, educational parks and metropolitan area school districts, although "not abandoning the concept of the neighborhood school."

It also advocated court action to determine whether minority group students were deprived of "equal protection of the law" by political boundaries separating predominantly white school districts from largely Negro ones.

Regarding the previously accepted school starting age of 6, the convention called it "obsolete."

The NEA's change in attitude is partially caused by the need to compete with the American Federation of Teachers (AFT), a 140,000-member AFL-CIO affiliate.

The next step rumored, school boards will shudder to learn, is a merger of the two teacher organizations. The result would be a force to be reckoned with.

School directors who want to be prepared had better start sharpening their negotiating pencils.

Too Many Cities Think This Is Being Ready for a Rainy Day

ROSS LEWIS, MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

Henry J. Taylor Says

The Animal Story

I am leaving now to write from Greece, from Tito's Yugoslavia, from NATO's Naples and Brussels headquarters, from Switzerland and elsewhere, and finally from Spain. And when I get to Barcelona, I want to see world-famous "Little But-tercup," the only known albino gorilla, at that city's zoo, one of the most beautiful animal heavens abroad.

Some years ago I wrote the section on Africa in the Book of Knowledge. Africa is a complex place of our world, yet I have always found it hard there not to concentrate on the animals.

Every animal lover knows that animals can and do reason, and that many can talk. We're just too dumb to understand them. Being a gorilla, perky "Little But-tercup" has a vocabulary of about 22 sounds, one less than the chimpanzee and 12 more than a baboon.

The lion is not the king of the jungle. He has never made the effort. He's lazy. And he lets the ladies do the work. The lioness stalks and kills the meal. The lion saunters up and dines with her. And even the most ferocious lion is heepped when with a lioness is season. His mane is often a bright cherry red, and it usually falls off when he dies.

King Elephant

The elephant is the king, as he also was the king of the wonderful animal population that Europe once fostered. In fact, the largest elephant skeleton was found not in Africa, but near Kent, England, of all unlikely places. It is 14 feet tall and is yours to see at the British Museum in London.

This prehistoric roamer's tracks tell you much before you can see him, as do the leopard's, whose male and female tracks are very different. Young elephants put the whole foot on the ground; older elephants set the heel first. They're passionately fond of water.

Ordinarily, wild animals are suspicious of a water course. They prefer their water where it has accumulated from the rains. But elephants will drink and slosh anywhere, and the uproar can be deafening at night around Lake Chad as well as the water holes.

Robert Ruark called the native buffalo (very vicious) the Prince, the leopard the knave. This killer's eyes are never still. He does not like to cross open spaces. He lives in the brush. You cannot see him. He waits until you are on top of him before he springs.

The rhino is the easiest dangerous African animal to locate because he is reckless, and the giant waterbuck gives himself away by his own horrible smell. He carries an insect-repellent in his hide—a greasy, self-generated ointment that announces him everywhere.

Some species of ostriches, nature's largest bird, signal when they're about to breed. Their long necks and legs turn red or blue, and their charge turns dangerous at the same time. The African quail, in turn, sleep in a tight circle; for safety, the turkeys always fly uphill.

Tigers roar less than lions—ordinarily they mumble. But tigers suffer from an inability to smell well. This weakness costs them grievously.

The mile-a-minute cheetah, the world's fastest animal, does not roar. He chirrups, like a bird. Hyenas can roar like a lion. Famous German animal trainer Hans Bruck once showed me, on the Sudan veld, how easy it is to make both mistakes.

The leopard gives short, coughing grunts, and in a deep voice that cannot be confused with the voice of other beasts. You can mark his progress by the baboons' warnings that send all baboons to the highest tree tops—quick.

A solitary baboon is a dead baboon. Each knows a marauding animal will get him every time. Chattering keeps baboons alive. They travel in marvelously regimented formations—females in front and rear, the fighting males in the center, the young deployed for reconnaissance along the flanks.

You can always tell a wolf from a dog; a wolf never carries his tail higher than half-mast. The wolf-pack rule is each for himself. Wolves do not attack one victim. On some mysterious signal to battle, they leap on their nearest neighbor and the slaughter starts.

Far back in the mists of time, why were certain animals chosen (the wolf became the dog) and certain animals rejected? We will never know.

The sun stares rudely at the Bahama Islands. What it sees are 700 white pebbles, surrounded by waters blue enough for an old-fashioned fountain pen. The sky is pale and hot, and white terns stand still on wing. The palms hang their arms at their sides. A jade lizard rocks on the mattress of a hibiscus flower. The clouds tower white high in the blue.

The black fin tuna sashays swiftly from the deep for a blue-striped bonita and, missing him, continues on out of the water, his varnished hide glistening in the light. An old lady, black as evening slippers, crouches by the sea to gut the hard white meat of a conch shell. Young women, with nude babies at their side, bend like praying mantis to search the hard ground for wild potatoes.

On the edge of the sea, an old man holds his hat in his hand and stares at rows of neat rocks. This is a cemetery. These are the headstones. A small wall keeps the south wind outside. The old man used to come here, sorry for her. Now he weeps for himself.

Mr. Garvey runs a good place in the native village, and the men bring their shillings and dollars to drink booze and watch the limbo dancers. They laugh in the small hours, but they sweat on the boats by day. The new schooners look old. They drag the shoals like tired swans.

Here, a man can have two kinds of children: in and out. The ins are sanctified by marriage; the outs are blessed by love. In the musical harmony of the Bahamas, one is not better than another. A pregnant miss pats her stomach and beams: "Bowlegs" baby. A man acknowledges his out children, and contributes to their support.

The black people have been here a long time. Today, they have the majesty of government. It is they who wear the periwigs and carry the mace of Her Majesty's Colony. It is part of a silent convulsion. The new government moves cautiously, swatting wildly when the flies stand still. Each gambling casino will now pay $1,000,000 a year in a land which has no income tax. This is a hermitated weight.

The little man knows nothing about it except that he is glad to see faces in the newspaper which require more ink. He has no more money, but he feels good to know that, for the first time in history, he is a member of the ruling class. When you mention politics, he grins through warped teeth and points across Providence Channel toward Nassau. "It's over there," he says.

It's over here too, but he does not see it. Grand Bahama, the big neglected island, sparkles with new hotels and white terraced roofs. A man named Butler tried to convert the sands of Grand Bahama to sugar, but he failed. A man named Wallace Groves followed him and made dollars fly like frightened pigeons.

Some say he is a bad man. Few have met him. Fewer know. But the little man knows that when Mr. Groves says that oil will be pumped up out of the sea, it will happen. When he says that spanking new marinas will be carved out of coral, they will. If Mr. Groves says no, he says it once.

A good mate can earn $20 on a tourist fishing boat, but he can't do it every day. Some days he sits on a sagging porch squinting. Butter costs too much. A loaf of bread comes to 60 cents. The new system isn't working yet. His people will not learn to buy flour and bake bread.

The Detroit Tragedy

WASHINGTON — On May 14, this writer devoted a column to the city of Detroit and its mayor, Jerome Patrick Cavanagh, describing him as the No. 1 glamor mayor of America, now facing the fact that his wife had left him, that he had spent too much time traveling abroad, that his city had the biggest crime increase of any in the USA and that he faced a recall.

The mayor vigorously denied these points and threatened a libel suit over the report that his wife had left him.

As of this week, unfortunately, most of the above facts resulted in tragic headlines across the nation. Mrs. Cavanagh sued for separate maintenance. The police let part of the population get completely out of hand. And the city faced $200,000,000 of damages in the worst street looting in the last half century.

Traveling over Detroit by helicopter, observers looked down on charred walls, lone chimneys, smoking ruins, a scene familiar to American bomber pilots over Germany in World War II. No one ever thought it could happen in America.

Yet it did happen, in a city which was completely integrated where Negroes had lucrative jobs in the auto plants, the only city in the USA sending two Negroes to Congress. In Detroit, Negroes and whites for many years lived side by side. Most of them owned their own homes. Walter Reuther years ago had welcomed Negroes into the United Auto Workers, making it one of the most completely integrated unions in the nation.

—The Detroit Story—

Yet sections of this model city now lie in smoldering ruins.

Why? There is no one reply to that question; but telling the story of what happened may give the answers.

Trouble began at 5 a. m. Sunday when the police raided the "Blind Pig" in the 12th Street area. There is a 2 a. m. closing time for liquor establishments in Detroit, and the police would have been remiss had they failed to raid the Blind Pig.

Inside they arrested 70 Negroes, and started to load them into three cars. However, they did not get them loaded fast enough, and a crowd of pimps and prostitutes gathered. They began to hoot and jeer, then threw rocks at car windows.

This points to one reason for the Detroit outbreak—namely, the crime increase and police failure to clean it up. Those who started the Detroit riots were the criminal element. But they spread. And Detroit police, understaffed by 500 men, were inadequate to deal with them.

At first, however, it was not their fault. They were ordered not to resist looters. The head of the Civil Rights Commission, Damon Keith, a Negro who is expected to become a federal judge, phoned the news media asking them not to publicize the riots; to give Negro leaders time to get things under control.

Congressman John Conyers, a Negro, invaded the 12th Street area to urge his fellow Negroes to keep the peace. Conyers was knocked off the top of his car.

Meanwhile the police stood by, still under orders not to shoot. All over town this word spread like wildfire. It was a free license to loot. Black and white citizens alike took advantage of that license. Out of one store ten Negroes carried a safe. A policeman looked the other way.

Through Sunday the looting continued. Food, appliances, furs, clothing, firearms, all were carried away by the armful or the truckload. Drug stores and liquor stores were broken open. Looters got drunk on gin and hoped up on drugs.

Finally, late Sunday evening, the National Guard was ordered in. But there was another delay of three hours. Meanwhile the looting continued. And during the Sunday night it spread to the East Side, and a day later to Pontiac and surrounding cities. Like a prairie fire it spread.

One committee representing 191 grocers told their story. All white, they had been wiped out. They had not been able to get insurance in that part of town. One man told how he had worked seven days a week for 24 years, saved up $28,000. Now all was gone.

There was a total of 714 reported fires. Early Monday morning a woman called the fire department, beseeching them to come to her home. She said it was on fire.

The department responded to her entreaties. The fire engines ran into a deadly crossfire of shooting. It was a trap. The firemen had to abandon two of their trucks.

Police Commissioner Ray Girardin had organized crack emergency police squads to deal with the riots in different sections of Detroit. They remained immobile, not called upon to operate.

The reasons for the razing of some parts of America's fifth biggest city can be summarized as follows:

1. The criminal element in Detroit was unruly even before the riots started. They started the trouble. After that, looting by all elements got out of hand.

2. The Detroit police were ordered not to fire on looters.

3. The Stokely Carmichael-led "Black Power" movement, led by Stokely Carmichael, Flagg McKissick, Brett Brown and other extremists among Negro leaders had been given so much publicity on television and elsewhere that too many Negroes believed their creed that the Negro had a right to "take."

Today in National Affairs

Public Suspects Riots Organized Nationally

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 27—Prominent Negro leaders now are issuing statements condemning the riots and disorders in American cities and expressing the belief that the "overwhelming majority of the Negro community" is opposed to violence.

At the same time, however, other Negro leaders, such as Adam Clayton Powell, say that "Black Rebellions are a necessary phase of the Black Revolution." While the ousted Harlem congressman says he doesn't approve of riots, his view is that the "rebellions" are natural developments. He declares that "all America will go up in flames" unless Negro congressmen are elected from 12 areas around the country.

Charge Racism

The fact is that for the last four years some of these same "Civil-Rights" leaders have been organizing street "demonstrations" and marches. When local officials or law-enforcement agencies have intervened to forestall violence or after it has erupted, there have been accusations of "police brutality" or "racism."

High officials continue to say they have had no evidence of "outside agitators." But the public is beginning to suspect that the riots could not have emerged simultaneously in different parts of the country without some kind of organization behind them. Former President Eisenhower, in a news conference this week, declared that "it does look like there must be some kind of a pattern" to the riots because of the way they have been breaking out in one city after another in similar ways.

Do some of the "Civil-Rights" leaders keep in close touch with the Communist world? Stokely Carmichael, leader of the "black power" movement, is currently in Cuba. He has just been traveling in the Communist-bloc countries in Eastern Europe, and went from there to attend the Communist-sponsored "Latin-American Solidarity Organization" conference to be held next week in Havana.

In a newspaper interview, Carmichael declared that Negroes had used "guerrilla warfare tactics" in Newark and that "we are preparing urban (city) guerrillas for our defense." He was quoted as describing the riots in American cities as "rebellions" for which "a high price" must be paid and as a "struggle to the death."

Guerrilla Tactics

The hard-core Communists in this country are presumably smart enough not to participate themselves in any guerrilla tactics or riots. They stand in the background and help to lay plans for outbreaks in various cities. The present strategy is to find some way to foment disorder, such as a quarrel with the police or some argument on a street corner. Then, when a Negro is arrested, the entire neighborhood is aroused, and a race issue is made of it.

Sooner or later the instigators of these disturbances will have to be brought to the bar of justice and punished. But this will not happen until Congress passes laws permitting the federal government to use its full power to support the states in prosecuting individuals who go from one state to another to incite violence.

The World Today

A Degrading Political Football

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before it could even be brought under control the Detroit riot was up to its neck in politics, looking straight at the 1968 presidential campaign.

It's a good guess we will be hearing about it until next year's elections.

Republican leaders with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower approving, warned that anarchy is approaching and blamed President Johnson for failing to "recognize the problem."

This attack was made Monday while Johnson—at the request of Michigan Gov. George Romney, who may be Johnson's Republican rival in the 1968 race, was arranging to send U. S. troops into blazing Detroit.

The whole story of what happened Monday—and why Johnson took so long before permitting the troops to be used in the riot center—hasn't been told. It took many hours.

Sought Insurance

The New York Times reported that at first "some officials in Washington suspected that the governor was primarily seeking insurance against a political setback in the riots by quickly associating the President with his own law enforcement efforts."

But Johnson for his part, in his public explanation on the troop use to the nation around midnight Monday, repeatedly made it clear Romney couldn't control the riot and that the reason the troops were being sent was because Romney said he needed them and couldn't do without them.

Romney, who has spent a good deal of 1967 scouting around the country to sound out sentiment about his chances next year, seemed certain until this riot to try for the Republican nomination.

All this will probably be used against him within his own party before nomination time comes. And if he gets the nomination, judging from the pains Johnson took to tell the country Romney couldn't make the grade with just one riot, the one in Detroit, the Democrats are a cinch to use it against him.

Political Football

But the Republicans turned Detroit into a political football before Johnson had a chance to picture Romney as helpless. They issued a statement of condemnation against Johnson hours before he went on the air with his explanation.

In fact, they sought to blame the Democrats indirectly for the riots, saying "widespread rioting and violent civil disorder have grown to a national crisis since the present administration took office."

Allen's Order

Onteora Vote Sept. 14

State Commissioner of Education Dr. James E. Allen Jr. has notified the Onteora School District Board of Education that a new school election must be held to fill the five-year term of Herbert J. Epstein.

Board members decided at an emergency meeting this week that a special election would be held Thursday, Sept. 14. Registration was set for Sept. 7.

It was learned earlier this week that the New York State Education Department in Albany had sustained Epstein's appeal to overturn the results of the May 3 Onteora School District election.

Epstein, a five-year incumbent seeking reelection to another five year term, was pitted against a relative newcomer to the area, Patrick Dodge, formerly of Boystown, Neb. Epstein was defeated in a 689-579 vote. The substance of Epstein's appeal dealt with confusion resulting from the physical set-up of the voting machines.

In a letter to the Onteora Board, Dr. Allen referred to the machine situation. Epstein had claimed that people who thought they were voting for him were actually voting for Dodge, and vice versa. Said

Dr. Allen: "The respondent board agrees that such situation existed and supports appellant in seeking a new election in regard to the contest between him and Mr. Dodge."

Over 5,000 persons attended the 12th annual Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's parade in Port Ewen.

Nervous Burglar Steals Diamond, Drops Into Mail

ROSLYN HEIGHTS, N.Y. (AP) — Police reported today the case of a nervous burglar who stole a diamond ring so big that he couldn't stand the excitement and anxiously chucked it into a mail box.

An official report read, "The burglar, apparently frightened by the size of the jewel, deposited it at a United States Post Office mail box somewhere in Roslyn Heights."

The three and a half carat ring was discovered Thursday tumbling onto a sorting table from a mail collection sack. Police made no estimate of its worth.

North Syracuse Downs School Budget 2nd Time

NORTH SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Voters defeated an $11.9 million school budget for a second time Thursday in what was described as the largest turnout in a school election in the history of the district.

A total of 6,653 residents cast ballots.

Proposition 1, totaling $11,831,737 was defeated 4,308 to 2,259. The balance of the budget, contained in other propositions, was also voted down.

Dr. Mark Wayne, a Board of Education spokesman, described it as the largest turnout the district had seen.

A $12.1 million budget was defeated June 20 in a much smaller vote, 623 to 527. It had been trimmed by $154,700 and resubmitted.

Dr. Wayne said the Board has the option to resubmit the proposals, reduce them further or adopt an austerity budget.

$4,771,671 Bid For Area Road Job

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A Bronx firm submitted a low bid of $4,771,671 for reconstruction of Route 211 in Orange County, the State Department of Public Works said today.

Del Balso Construction Corp. made the bid for the reconstruction of 2.19 miles of the road from the Middletown city line east to near Ebert Road in the Town of Wallkill.

LBJ Proclaims Sunday Prayer Day, Commission to Study Race Riots

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, proclaiming this Sunday a national day of prayer for racial peace, has created an 11-member commission to search out causes of race rioting—and to suggest ways to avoid it in the future.

Johnson, center of a political storm touched off by pillage, arson and murder in Detroit, gave his views on mounting racial violence in television-radio address from his White House office Thursday night.

Not Part of Protest
Speaking deliberately and emphasizing his points, he said what happened in Detroit was not part of any civil rights protest.

He said: "This is crime—and crime must be dealt with forcefully, swiftly, certainly—under law... The criminals who committed these acts of violence against the people deserve to be punished... The violence must be stopped: quickly, finally and permanently."

Johnson announced that to bolster the nation's law enforcement for this effort, all National Guard units will be given intensified riot control training.

The chief executive, formally proclaiming Sunday a day of prayer, urging all citizens in every town and in every city and in every home in the land to go into their churches—pray for order and reconciliation among men.

Johnson began his carefully rehearsed address by saying, "We have endured a week such as no nation should live through: a time of violence and tragedy."

Kerner Chairman
Then he announced appointment of a special Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders to investigate origins of urban riots and recommend solutions to the White House, Congress, state governors and mayors.

Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois will be chairman. Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York will be vice chairman.

Other members of the 11-man commission include: —Fred R. Harris, 36, an Oklahoma Democrat elected to the U.S. Senate in 1964 after serving 10 years in the State Senate. He is an attorney.

—Edward W. Brooke, 47, a Massachusetts Republican who became last year the first popularly elected Negro member of the Senate after serving four years as state attorney general. —William M. McCulloch, 60, an Ohio Republican elected to the House in 1947.

—James C. Corman, 46, a California Democrat elected to the House in 1960 after previous experience in private law practice and as a member of the Los Angeles City Council.

—Roy Wilkins, 65, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People since 1965 and an official of the organization since 1931.

—I.W. Abel, 58, president of the AFL-CIO Unit of Steel Workers since 1965.

—Charles B. Thornton, 52, chairman of the board and president of the company.

Fair Street Blaze Blamed On Cigarette

The boarders of a three-story frame rooming house escaped injury today after a fire erupted in the third floor front room. The occupant, Louis Wheeler, notified fire officials of the blaze. Firemen said the fire originated when a cigarette ignited a mattress.

The house, located at 154 Fair Street and owned by Emma Curtis and Robert Leonard, suffered little damage. Smoke and water damage was considerably more severe than charring.

The mattress and a chair, destroyed by the fire, were removed from the building, firemen said.

Kingston firemen responded to the alarm at 2:05 a. m.

The FBI will continue to exercise its full authority to investigate these riots, in accordance with my standing instructions, and to continue to search for evidence of conspiracy."

He gave no opinion on whether a conspiracy has been involved.

Officials said earlier this week the FBI has not independently investigated riots. An FBI official said the bureau would have no immediate comment on Johnson's remark.

Johnson, blamed for the riots by the Republican Coordinating Committee, hit back at GOP members who have opposed his social legislation—legislation he said would help root out "the conditions that breed despair and violence."

Citing last week's vote by a largely Republican House majority to kill a $20-million plan to eradicate rats that prey on slum children, Johnson said: "A government that has spent millions to protect baby calves from worms can surely afford to show the same concern for baby boys and girls."

GOP Still Target

With the GOP still his target, he continued: "There are some today who feel that we cannot afford a model cities program. They reduced my request for funds this year by two-thirds."

"There are some who feel we cannot afford additional good teachers for the children of poverty. Or new efforts to house those most in need. Or aid to education."

"There is a strange system of bookkeeping."

Capitol Hill generally endorsed his creation of the riot probe commission. But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he expected pressure to continue for a separate congressional investigation.

Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford backed the commission's objectives.

There also was an echo in Johnson's speech of the continuing debate over whether he acted as quickly as he should have in committing federal troops to Detroit riot areas.

The President said the federal government should move to curb disorder only "in extraordinary circumstances where local authorities have stated that they cannot maintain order with their own resources."

Departing from his text, he said in that case reliance must fall upon "federal authority that we have limited authority to use."

Michigan Gov. George Romney, who would like to be Johnson's Republican challenger in 1968, joined Detroit's Democratic mayor, Jerome P. Cavanagh, in asking the President Thursday to declare the city a disaster area eligible for special federal aid.

Johnson responded hours before his speech that emergency drugs, hospital equipment and rewards or salutes for the Detroit rioters—perhaps indicating that those who burned their neighborhoods can expect no federal help in rebuilding.

Yet, at another point, he said: "Let us condemn the violent few. But let us remember that it is law-abiding Negro families who have suffered most at the hands of the rioters."

Dismiss ERA Action On Gardens Contract

Legal proceedings brought by ERA Electric Construction Corporation against the Kingston Housing Authority to annul the awarding of the electrical contract for the construction of Iondont Gardens to Whitman Electric, Inc. were dismissed by Supreme Court Justice Lawrence H. Cooke, it was learned today.

Applications were made at Special Term of the Ulster County Supreme Court April 7 by ERA Electric for an order annulling the determination of the KHA that ERA was not the lowest responsible bidder for the electrical work, bids for which were opened Aug. 16, 1966. The KHA ultimately awarded the contract to Whitman Electric, Inc. the next lowest bidder.

The application also asked a jury trial on the issue of the good faith of the chairman of the KHA.

In dismissing the proceedings, Justice Cooke said in part, "The awarding of a contract on the part of a public official to one of several bidders requires the exercise on his part of judgment and discretion, and where there is found to be a rational basis for the administrative determination, the judicial function is exhausted and the administrative agency, not the Court, is the final arbiter."

ERA was represented by Saccoman and Mullany and the KHA by its counsel, Harry Gold.

Suspect Insulin Used in Death Of Six on Coast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Six persons close to William David Archer died mysteriously over the past 19 years.

In each case, says the district attorney's office, injections of insulin were suspected.

The dead included two of Archer's seven wives including his seventh—Mary Brinker Arden, author of a novel, "Annie Jordan," of which a million copies were sold.

Archer, 55, a gray-haired hospital attendant with a penchant for flashy clothes, was arrested late Thursday and booked on three counts of suspicion of murder.

He was jailed without bail being set, and his arraignment was set for today before Superior Court Judge Robert Feinerman.

A county grand jury issued a secret, three-count murder indictment after hearing 130 witnesses over the past three weeks. Sheriff's deputies then took Archer into custody at his home in Alhambra, a suburb northeast of Los Angeles.

The grand jury indicted Archer on charges of murdering his fourth wife, Zella Winders Archer; his 15-year-old nephew, Burney Kirk Archer, and Mrs. Arden.

By the time Archer and his seventh wife had met, investigators said, Archer had changed his name to Arden. She died Sept. 3, 1966, in Pomona Community Hospital.

Mrs. Arden was sister-in-law of Manfred B. Lee, author of the famed Ellery Queen mystery stories. It was her death that set off the investigation of the bizarre slayings, it was reported.

The Los Angeles district attorney's office said there has never been a conviction in the United States for murder by insulin injection.

INVESTING... Growth Stocks for Rising College Costs

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor & Analyst

Q "In six or eight years, our two children will be entering college. We own our home and have ample insurance and savings, and $5,000 to invest. This we need to increase considerably. We have been advised to buy Ramada Inns and also considering airlines. Which of the latter appears to have the best growth prospects?" T.Y.

A "I should like to commend you, if I may, for planning so thoughtfully for your children's education. In few areas has the impact of inflation been so strongly felt as in the cost of education. You have selected two growing sectors of the economy to enhance your capital. I will suggest a third. Ramada Inns, as now constituted, has a good though relatively short record of growth. I like the stock, but in some respects I prefer Holiday Inns, which is more broadly based and appears to have a stronger outlook. I suggest that you buy a few shares of each.

My sole recommendation in the airlines group is Pacific Southwest. This company operates entirely within the state of California and is not subject to federal regulation. Finally, I would take a long look at Bechtel, Dickinson, showing a powerful growth in disposable income and medical equipment.

Business Mirror Reflections Higher Food Prices May Spur Protests

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The rise in food prices now under way is taking on some of the characteristics that last year stirred up housewife protests against the nation's foodstuffs.

Leading all price increases last month was the price of food. Fruits and vegetables were 3 per cent higher than in May, and poultry and fish prices showed increases of just slightly less.

Bar Hopes
As if this wasn't bad news enough, rising wholesale prices bar any optimistic hope that the increase will level off next month.

Instead, food prices are almost bound to go higher, carrying with them the tempers of housewives.

Almost all consumers seem able to tolerate with a frustrated grumble the routine increases in the cost of living. To many people, higher prices seem almost inevitable.

It is when the high costs are most pronounced in the food sector, the area of greatest consumer spending, that the ineffective grumbling becomes active protest.

Unlike clothing, which may be purchased for a season, food usually is purchased in small quantities. It is a repetitive activity, and so price increases have multiple exposure.

But there is more to it than that. The great consuming public once was a disorganized mass. Now it is threaded together by various consumer groups and has found a sympathetic ear and even leadership in Washington.

Other factors are at work also. The food consumer is constantly changing his habits as the variety of choices grows. He is, perhaps, less predictable. At least you may judge so by the number of studies now being conducted.

This week the National Industrial Conference Board—nonprofit, largely business support—has announced a study of the food consumer.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced early today. Trading was active.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up about 2 points. Gains outnumbered losses by better than 2 to 1.

Motors, Rubbers, steels, chemicals and oils were generally higher.

Gains of a point or so were made by Control Data, International Minerals, Studebaker, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Kennecott and Texaco.

Boeing, United Aircraft and Raytheon, recent gainers, slumped a point or so as profits were taken.

Sperry Rand rose 1/4 to 38 on a block of 20,400 shares.

Sperry was most active stock Thursday. It has voted its first cash dividend since 1960.

Early blocks included Chrysler, up 1/4 at 49 1/2 on 15,000 shares; American Telephone, unchanged at 51 1/2 on 11,000; General Motors, up 1/4 at 85 on 9,000; and McDonnell Douglas, off 1/4 at 55 on 5,100.

Corporate profits in the first quarter and the second half continued to lag behind to newspaper levels, according to newspaper surveys made public. More important, businessmen indicated they expect a continued decline in the third quarter.

Faulty Ignition Blamed For Danskammer Blast

Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation reported today that a preliminary investigation indicates that the accidental explosion at its Danskammer Plant Electric Station on July 20 was caused by faulty ignition in the furnace of a new 230,000 kilowatt generating unit.

At the time of the accident, the $30,000 generating unit was undergoing final tests prior to being placed in commercial service on August 1. The tests were under the joint direction of the manufacturer's representative and the consulting engineer.

Central Hudson reported that it is fully insured for the damage and expects to have the generating unit in service about mid-September.

Volunteers are needed to man the various booths. Donations of toys, fancy articles and baked goods are being asked. Fair workers will meet 8 p. m. Thursday, Aug. 3, at the library.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A New York City welfare couple with two children would receive a $4.06 cost-of-living increase under terms of a schedule announced Thursday by the State Department of Social Services.

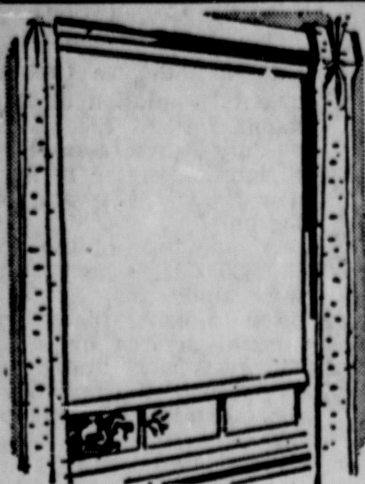

The cost-of-living boost will apply to all of the state's one million welfare recipients. The increase would bring the family's total allowance to $197.05 a month. The allowance covers food, clothing, personal incidentals, household supplies, school expenses, utilities, fuel and sales taxes.

Commissioner George K. Wyman said the precise schedule of new allowances would be issued at the end of July and would become effective sometime before Jan. 1. The increase is expected to cost about $15 million annually.

Wyman said his example did not include the allowance for rent because rental charges vary widely in the state. He said the basic allowance also would vary slightly because of differences in local utility rates.

Lt. Who Led JFK Entourage Crippled by Shot

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — In 1963 Army Lt. Samuel R. Bird commanded the eight-man military entourage that ushered President John F. Kennedy's casket to Arlington National Cemetery.

Today, Bird, now a captain, must be carried or wheeled wherever he goes through the long corridors of Kennedy Veterans Administration Hospital here.

Bird, of Wichita, Kan., is a casualty of the war in Vietnam. An enemy sniper's bullet last Jan. 27 left him with crippling brain damage, and he is unable to use his legs.

Only a quick evacuation by helicopter saved his life, and there still is doubt of a complete recovery.

"With all the drive Sam's got, he'll make it," said Richard E. Bird, a retired Kansas lumberman and father of the wounded soldier.

The elder Bird arrived in Memphis earlier this week, right after his son who was transferred from the military hospital at San Antonio, Tex.

"I had him brought here because this is known as the best rehabilitation center in the country," Bird said.

Thinks Deep Federal Cuts Could Offset Tax Hike Need

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and foreign aid would offset any Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says deep cuts in federal spending on space, public works, defense as well as nondefense spending, Ford said, in reiterating his opposition to the six per cent income tax surcharge proposed by President Johnson.

Here are Ford's responses to questions from The Associated Press:

Q. How much reduction would have to be made to stave off a tax hike?

A. The Congress and the President, working together, can surely achieve whatever spending cutbacks are necessary to match the revenue which might be obtained through a tax increase.

To date, the only definite surtax figure we have heard from the President is six per cent. The administration has estimated the revenue from imposition of a six per cent surtax on income taxes at $4.5 billion to $5 billion.

I feel certain that federal spending can be cut sufficiently to offset the President's demand for additional revenue in that amount.

Q. In what areas would you propose reductions? What specific programs?

A. The House has already cut presidential appropriation requests by $3.47 billion. Additional cuts will be made in the remaining appropriation bills. If the Senate will act accordingly, the Congress can reach the $4.5 billion to $5 billion goal I cited.

I believe the space, public works, foreign aid and military construction programs and non-Vietnam defense items can stand substantial cuts. There is nothing sacred about the manned-to-the-moon timetable, and many public works projects could be deferred at least a year without harm.

$25,000 Greene Resort Fire

Fire of unknown origin gutted the top floor of Langes Groveside Inn resort in the Greene County community of Acra Thursday, causing damage which may amount to as much as $25,000.

The blaze, which broke out in the resort's main building on Route 23, forced about 30 guests to flee, according to Acra Town Supervisor Angelo Canna. No injuries were reported. Severely damaged were several guest rooms and the owner's living quarters.

The resort, which is one of the largest in the area, is owned jointly by Mr. and Mrs. William Lange and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Rasmussen.

Wrecks Stolen Car, Vanishes

An unidentified thief escaped injury early today after stealing a late model auto and then overturning it on the Boulevard, failed to negotiate a turn, went out of control striking guard rails and finally coming to rest on its top.

Police said the driver simply vanished. Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., was called to the scene to fix several wires that were knocked to the ground in the accident.

Police are conducting an investigation to determine who the mysterious driver is.

Child Molester Film Shown

What can happen to young-sters who pay attention to the advances of strangers was brought to the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday in a film entitled "The Child Molester."

Presented by the Golden Rule Society of which Kiwanian Henry Bruck is a member, the film depicted two eight-year-old girls who accepted candy from a stranger, who then became the object of a police search, and who were found murdered by a person who appeared to be a normal individual but whose mental processes were those of a "warped individual."

The film emphasized that children should be taught to resist any attempts by strangers to be "overly nice" to them, and that they should report immediately to either parents or police authority any advances that they might receive from unknown individuals. It was also stressed that the "molester" could be a person from any strata of life, and that a constant watch should be maintained by both parent and police authority for persons who were not acting normally toward children.

Lt. Lemuel F. Howard and Juvenile Investigator William Whelan of the Kingston Police Department were guests of the Kiwanis Club for the presentation of the film.

Synanon Rehabilitation Estate

Tannersville Facility--Hope for the Addict

By FRED SNYDER

Synanon. The word is now a part of the American language. It was the title of a Hollywood potboiler. The subject of a television white paper. Two books. A score of magazine articles. A home for drug addicts. A game for the fashionable elite. A way of life.

Now it's the name of an estate nestled in a mountainside near the tiny Greene County community of Tannersville.

Synanon grew from a crude, daring experiment into a national movement about eight years ago when a group of dope addicts in Ocean Park, Cal., who had been living together for a couple of years decided to kick the habit, cop out and go straight.

Half Off Drugs

Since then, more than 1,275 addicts have checked in at one of founder Charles Dederich's seven Synanon facilities across the country. Most of them eventually "graduate," half of them are still off drugs.

There are currently 605 Synanon residents nationally who are participating in the Foundation's two- and a-half year program, and the movement keeps growing. Dederich's utopian-sized expansion program has demanded the acquisition of more and more facilities, including the Tannersville location as a kind of midway house for residents who will later live on the larger California properties and complete their recovery.

The estate stretches over 16 acres of land that once belonged to the Doubleday publishing family, about a mile off Route 23A. It was donated to the Synanon Foundation last summer and opened early in May.

The main house has three floors in oriental interior design and 22 rooms which serve for dormitory, seminar, work and recreational purposes. There are also a water tower that looks like a Chinese pagoda, a gazebo and a five-room apartment over a garage, the living quarters of Tannersville Director Ted Sondergard and his family.

Eighteen addicts are actively participating in the Tannersville program most of them in their late teens or early twenties. They are restless, nervous, scared young men, tired of "shooting" dope, afraid to play it straight.

"We got them up here right off the streets of New York, some from New Jersey," says Sondergard. "They're no babies. They know what heroin is, but they don't want to be slaves anymore."

Alternative to Jail

Addicts get into a Synanon facility either by applying for the program voluntarily or by being sent there by police officials, who generally offer them the choice of Synanon for three years or five years in jail.

"The ones who get sent here at first figure they can cool it for the three years and then bust out. But it's not that easy. They don't know what they're in for," Sondergard says.

What they're in for — at Tannersville and at the other Synanon facilities in Santa Monica, San Diego, San Francisco, Tomales Bay, New York City and Detroit — is a highly disciplined program of social integration. Whereas most addiction

"cures" try to ease the addict off drugs by giving him decreasing doses of narcotics or substitutes, Synanon demands abrupt and complete withdrawal. This demand is backed up by more powerful group pressures.

When an addict enters a Synanon house he enters a society that tells him he is "stupid." But instead of coming from prison officials and doctors, this charge comes from his peers who were very recently in the same boat.

"The secret lies in the community nature of Synanon life," Sondergard explains. "You go to a psychiatrist or a cop, and you tell him what he wants to know. You figure he already has an image of you, and you try to fit that image. It's easy to fake them out. I know, I was an expert at it myself."

Sondergard had been on drugs for 14 years before he joined Synanon. He has been clean ever since and is characteristic of the men and women who staff the Foundation, all of them ex-addicts who claim they know how to deal with addicts better than professional authorities.

"You can fake an analyst or a cop. But it's damn hard to fake a guy you're living with 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 52 days a year. You're all together, all of the time, and if anybody makes a wrong move, everybody else knows it."

Such a "wrong move" might involve slacking off on Synanon house activities. The Tannersville facility residents do their own cooking, laundry, and maintain the property themselves. The Synanon Foundation is a self-supporting organization, depending on primate individual contributions.

No Salaries

Ted and Carol Sondergard are assisted by Joe and Shirley Gambuto and two other helpers named Frank and Bubba. None of them receive any regular salary for their services. "We're here because we know we're doing something worthwhile. We really don't need any income for private purposes. We all share what we have when we come in here, and we all share what we get from the outside. And we expect the other residents to have the same attitude," Sondergard says.

Other Synanon activities include daily symposiums, arts and crafts, sports and various entertainment projects. Full participation in Synanon programs is needed to build up will power and avoid sliding back into addiction. Synanon people say, "These aren't just petty little jobs to pass the time. They're duties, activities aimed at developing a sense of responsibility. Not just to yourself, but to everyone you're living with. And when somebody starts skipping, he's subject to the harshest community criticism," says one resident.

But even the newest member can throw criticism back in the Synanon "game," the second key element in the Foundation's rehabilitation program. This is a seminar held three times a week in which small groups of residents meet to explore personal problems and conflicts.

Since Synanon considers addiction merely a symptom of a deeper character disorder, drugs and addiction are seldom topics in the game. Instead, addicts are encouraged to eliminate these disorders, members assess each other's attitudes and performances to iron out personal problems.

"This whole scourge of addiction today is mainly a problem of alienation. I don't mean just heroin. I consider anybody who takes any kind of drug an addict, pot, pills, or LSD. It's this sense of isolation from society, of having nothing meaningful to do, nowhere to go. They're bleak people, living in what they think is a bleak world. The game is one way of building up a social consciousness," Sondergard points out.

Disconcerting to the outsider, these games are frank, uninhibited, and noisy, but never violent. Sit in on a typical game and the point becomes clear. For an hour or so there is criticism, sometimes gentle and sometimes biting and sarcastic, of each other. Then the group might turn on someone in particular, including the staff directors, tearing him to pieces for failure to live up to the Synanon code.

Not Group Therapy

Although it resembles group therapy techniques used in clinical psychology, the game is really a unique phenomenon. For addicts who play the game, it is a tightly organized social structure, like a family unit. Which is quite different from the clinic patient whose private life is separated from his involvement in therapy sessions.

Sondergard also sees a future for the Synanon method beyond the treatment of drug addiction. Based upon the success with the hard-core criminal addict, Synanon has recently embarked on a more ambitious program for working with a wider range of human difficulties. Most of these new Synanon people are reasonably successful members of the community. For them, game sessions and overall involvement with the Synanon movement appear to be solving a variety of frustrations, feelings of loneliness, alienation, and relationship conflicts.

"Community citizens will make arrangements to play a game just for fun. The conversation, the repartee at these times is highly sophisticated. But often it leads to more than just fun. I know of several instances when a marriage was saved from divorce just because both people got a chance to hear themselves out and hear

THE SYNANON GAME—Addicts on the road to rehabilitation participate in the activity which is the key to Synanon's astounding successful recovery program, "the game." A variety of personal, emotional and social problems are brought out into the open during the games, which are often frank, uninhibited and noisy. The Synanon method has also dealt successfully with the marital and business problems of people with no narcotics background.

what other people thought about them," Sondergard says. "I see a time when Synanon houses will be established throughout the country for people with normal, everyday problems who need this kind of atmosphere. The whole area of interpersonal relationships—that's Synanon's real province," he believes.

In pursuit of this aim, the Tannersville facility holds an open house Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon for area residents "who just want to take a look around." And residents may also make arrangements to play "square games" themselves whenever feasible.

But time and history will determine just what a reaction social organization in America and the Kingston area will take in the future. Meanwhile, Synanon has already made its mark as providing the only consistently effective treatment of narcotics addiction, "Synanon's genius lies simply in establishing lines of communication with the addict," psychiatrist and author of another Synanon book, puts it more strongly. "Synanon is hope. Hope for the addict, hope for society. For the first time, an addict has a chance of getting well."

Have Not Picked Candidate

Seek Bipartisan Backing

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Democrats are seeking bi-partisan support for a candidate they have yet to pick for a seat on the Court of Appeals, the Republican state chairman said Thursday.

Charles A. Schoenbeck said this was attempt to force the GOP into a game of "blind man's bluff" because only the identity of the Republican candidate is known.

Schoenbeck rejected a Democratic ultimatum to agree by Aug. 10 on bi-partisan nominations for two seats on the state's highest court.

"Since the Democrats do not now have a candidate," Schoenbeck said, "the discussion of his endorsement is premature and not in the public interest."

Democratic Chairman John J. Burns, who issued the ultimatum, said Democrats were ready to endorse Manhattan Republican Charles D. Breitel if the GOP would endorse "a distinguished Democrat" for the second seat. Breitel currently is serving on the court by interim appointment.

Breitell was appointed by Gov. Rockefeller in January to fill a vacancy created when Stanley H. Fuld moved from associate judge to chief judge. Breitel will be seeking election to a full, 14-year term in November.

New York voters in the same election will choose a successor for Associate Judge John Van Voorhis, a Rochester Republican, who is to retire at year's end.

Burns said he sought a cross-endorsement agreement to take the election out of partisan politics. If the Republicans have not acted by Aug. 10, the Democratic executive committee would nominate two Democrats for the seats, he said.

Schoenbeck argued that Breitel, a former State Supreme Court justice, deserved bi-partisan endorsement because he is "one of the most eminent jurists in the state."

"The Democratic party has been unable to choose any one man as qualified to serve on the bench," Schoenbeck said, "except to demand that the Republican Party play blind man's bluff and endorse any candidate Mr.

Burns wishes to choose, sight unseen."

Among Democrats pressing hard for their party's nomination are Supreme Court Justices Matthew J. Jansen of Buffalo and Lawrence H. Cooke of Monticello. Frank D. O'Connor, New York City Council president and the Democrats' candidate for governor last year, also has indicated interest in the post.

Manages to Escape

GI Tells of Captivity in Viet

ALONG THE CAMBODIAN BORDER, Vietnam (AP) — Andrew York bit desperately into the crude ropes binding his wrists, tearing at the strands with his teeth and un mindful of the blood the rough fibers drew.

Minutes earlier the slim, 19-year-old infantryman from the 4th Infantry Division, was being carried into captivity by North Vietnamese soldiers who had overwhelmed his platoon in the rain forest along the border between Vietnam and Cambodia.

Both of York's legs had been shattered by a mortar round as he was firing his machine gun at the dozen brown-clad Vietnamese rushing at him through elephant grass. He fainted. When he came to, the roar of battle was stilled, his wrists were tied to his belt, and his Communist captors stood around him. Two of them grabbed his arms, two others his feet, and York—from the little town of Chelsea, Maine, married on May 5 to his childhood sweetheart and sent to Vietnam a week later—was on his way to captivity.

But the battle last Sunday was by no means over. Circling overhead in a helicopter was the battalion commander, Lt. Col. Thomas P. Lynch of Spokane, Wash., who called for silence on the busy radio net so he could hear the last man on the platoon's radio set.

"Charger (the battalion commander's code name), everyone else is dead," the voice said. There were some mumbled words about home and mother. Then "Charger, I'm dying." The set went silent.

Ordered Artillery

Lynch assumed everyone in the platoon was killed. Numerous North Vietnamese could be seen below. He ordered in artillery barrages on top of them.

York, numb with pain, was being carried into the jungle as the first rounds came in. The two Vietnamese carrying his legs were killed in the first blast. The men at his shoulders dropped him to the ground.

"I realized they were our shells," York said later at a hospital. "I was sure the Communists would kill me then, what had they to lose? And if they didn't, then our artillery would get me. I thought I was dead for sure. All I could do was pray, and you better believe I was praying."

The barrage ended quickly. York was alone beside the two dead men who had been carrying his legs. He tugged painfully at his belt and pulled his wrists free so he could get his teeth to the ropes. Then he started chewing feverishly.

The North Vietnamese battalion that had overwhelmed the 30-man platoon-killing 8 of the Americans — had reached the company perimeter where another 30 Americans were lying in foxholes.

Under Attack

Commanded by Capt. William C. Pratt of Edinburg, Tex., they were soon under rocket and machine gun attack from the shadowy figures at the edge of the clearing.

The big American guns to the rear slammed shell after shell at the enemy, a total of 6,682 in three hours.

U.S. Air Force bombers roared in as the artillery lifted briefly, searing the jungle and grassy clearings with napalm and heavy bombs. Armed helicopters slashed at trails with their machine guns.

One of Capt. Pratt's platoons fought its way back to the company perimeter. Then Capt. Neill D. Buie of Wisner, La., burst across the clearing with 120 men.

From then on, it became "a mechanical process," Lynch said, "a complete destruction and neutralization of the area" with heavy gunfire.

A total of 170 Communists were killed; 19 Americans were dead.

Alive amid the destruction were Pfc. York and 10 others in his platoon, all wounded. York had managed to bite through his ropes, had dragged his mangled legs through the jungle to join up with some of his buddies, and gave a weak, painful cheer as the rescue troops arrived.

"We had an electric heating system installed in our home at Rusky Lane, Hyde Park. However, our heating bills ran so high we decided it would be less expensive in the long run to change over to oil heating. So, we did — and this past winter we enjoyed the warmth and comfort of oil heat. And, in addition, it looks like we'll be saving over $250 a year — enough to soon pay for the entire changeover."

The Right Thing To Do

By Elizabeth L. Post

VALUE OF SMOKING WHILE NURSING

Two women readers take issue with my answer to a young mother who was bored by nursing her baby. I did not feel that I was qualified to judge whether a nursing mother should smoke or not, but I did object to the attitude of boredom and resentment the young girl showed. The attitude expressed below is quite different, and if smoking a cigarette was helpful to these mothers and not harmful to their babies, certainly there could be no criticism.

Dear Mrs. Post: I was shocked at your incongruent reply to Ella, the 18-year-old mother who smoked while nursing her baby. I am 23 years old and had my first baby at seventeen. I now have four children and am expecting another soon. I have always been successful in nursing them and this I attribute to my calm and ease during those periods. I did not worry if I smoked, read a book, talked on the telephone or watched television. No, it was not boring, and it was not a drudge as some people think it is. If more young mothers realize it does not hamper them to much, perhaps more would take advantage of this wonderfully satisfying gift of nature.

— Andrea D'Angelo
Dear Mrs. Post: In reference to the young mother who smoked while nursing her baby because of boredom, please listen to another experience on the matter.

I nursed four babies for nine months each. It can get boring. Sometimes it took 20 minutes to a half hour and it is difficult to relax when your mind is active with your other chores. Yet relaxing is the most important ingredient of nursing for mother and child, so here was my solution. I took a book and my reading glasses with me and always lay down, and it was the best part of my day. I rested and enjoyed my novel as well as my baby. Baby was happy because I was relaxed.

— Mrs. R. K.

Everyone "Fixes" His Own Food

Dear Mrs. Post: Can you tell me if it is in good taste for a wife to fix her husband's plate? If so, when is this permissible? — Evelyn C.

Dear Evelyn: If you mean by "fixing" a plate, cutting up and arranging the food, everyone should certainly "fix" his own. The only exception would be in the case of a person who was crippled, blind or otherwise incapable.

Private Pools Not Restricted To Chosen Few

Swimming pools for the home are no longer considered an item strictly for high income groups and warm weather states.

More than 50,000 in-ground residential pools have been sold in each of the past three years. And, according to the American Gas Association, Inc. (A.G.A.), the big splash is likely to continue now that normal swimming seasons can be doubled with effective pool heating systems.

In addition to permitting swimming in the spring and fall, a pool heater can come to the rescue during occasional summer cold spells. The heaters function dually by providing an initial rise in temperature, then automatically maintaining it at a healthy, comfortable level.

The new development in pool equipment also adds a new dimension to the economics of owning a "backyard beach."

Longer swim seasons are drastically reducing the average monthly costs for owning and maintaining a pool, making the investment more realistic for outdoor enthusiasts. A.G.A. reports that the cost of a gas pool heating system represents only about 10% of the total pool installation cost.

Statistics from cities representing a cross section of the country indicate that the normal swim season has been extended on an average of three months in such widely scattered locales as New York, Salt Lake City, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Albuquerque and Nashville.

A private swimming pool enhances the value of the property.

Boating Can Broaden Your Outdoor Fun

Yes, boating has become a multi-dimensional avenue to recreation as the industry responds to the expanding interests of people of all ages. For example, the houseboat offers a floating vacation home; runabouts are tops for use in the popular and invigorating sport—water skiing.

And now there is a new accessory for underwater use, off land or off boats. It is the Air-Buoy, a floating station that furnishes a constant flow of fresh air for the underwater explorer.

Heat Can Hurt

Heat prostration or heat exhaustion are caused by prolonged heat and humidity, fatigue and excessive loss of body salts and water through perspiration. Buffered salt tablets should be taken to replace lost body salt and to prevent illness caused by excessive heat.

EXPERTS PREDICT water skiing participation will increase 114 percent in the next ten years. On the basis of current participation, there could be upwards of 17,000,000 skiers by 1977, and many of these will be women. Water skiing is easy to master and family outboard runabouts make the ideal tow rigs.

Run-Down on Gear You'll Want for Camp

Your basic shelter equipment is, of course, a tent. Some families find it a good idea to have two tents, one for the parents, another for the youngsters.

Most of the traditional tent types cannot serve the camping family as well as a modern tent designed for easy portability, full protection and quick pitching.

Immediate Occupancy

For instance, one of the new tents is ready to occupy within two or three minutes after arrival at the campsite. Another model, reminiscent of the Conestoga wagon, is designed for family camping and can sleep as many as eight using double-decker bunks.

Creature Comfort

For real creature comfort, be sure your family's camping gear includes sleeping bags. A bough bed might be all right for some hardy souls, but chances are all hands (and bodies) will be much more comfortable in sleeping bags.

Even the guesswork has been taken out of buying a sleeping bag these days.

Some sleeping bags carry an ingenious dial that tells what model sleeping bag is needed for specific conditions. This innovation should overcome the difficulties campers have experienced in the past buying the best insulation tailored to their sleeping needs.

Let There be Light

Another basic requirement to consider for convenient, safe camping is light. In addition to individual flashlights, you'll need a good source of wide illumination. An inverted style camp lantern bathes a large area in shadowless light, while the conventional lantern broadcasts its light horizontally.

Look for models that burn any gasoline so you'll have a supply of fuel as near at hand as your car's gas tank. New on the market is a lantern carrier to simplify lantern transport and storage.

Keeping Things Cool

The problem of refrigeration is simply solved with lightweight insulated ice chest and picnic jugs in which ice and perishable foods may be stored for days. Convenient ice-dispensing machines dot our highways and campsites making ice replenishment easy. Experienced campers have found that block ice is best for long-lasting refrigeration since it melts much slower than cube, crushed or shaved ice.

Vacuum bottles should also be on your list of basic equipment for keeping beverages and foods hot or cold en route or at camp.

Cooling Supplies

Last but not least is the question of cooking supplies. Most camping families rely upon camp stoves. Boy Scout fire-building techniques are handy, but useless in the rain.

A camp stove, on the other hand, can be moved under a tarpaulin roof or shelter and meal preparation won't be interrupted. Modern camp stoves, like the new lanterns, will burn any gasoline, even automotive gas siphoned from the car.

You'll find a camp stove stand well worth the small investment, particularly in areas where there aren't picnic tables, a handy rock or stump.

To round out your gear, you'll want to remember cooking utensils, a can opener, knife, matches and a waterproof container, insect repellent, toilet articles, a rubber hose for siphoning gas, first aid kit and folding chairs and table.

Clothing should be practical and comfortable for camping, and rainwear should be brought for everyone. If there are youngsters in the family, it's a wise mother who packs a few indoor games for rainy days.

Camping is truly a family affair and one that will bring you pleasure for years to come.

Towing a Heavy Trailer No Job for the Ordinary Auto

Towing a trailer, particularly one of the newer, heavier models, often exerts more of a strain on an ordinary passenger car than the car is designed to handle.

Fortunately for camping and boating enthusiasts, several automotive manufacturers have recognized this problem and are producing vehicles with trailer towing in mind.

International's Travelall station wagon is one of the leaders in this special-duty category. Because it is not built on a conventional automobile frame but on a more husky type, the Travelall can pull trailers up to 10,000 lbs. with tail-wagging or bottom-dragging.

The roomiest of all station wagons, it seats nine adults without any knocking of knees or squeezing of elbows. It can also carry 124-cu. ft. of cargo with the second and third seats removed.

There is a choice of five models in the line, two of these feature a number of important trailer-towing characteristics.

These include a unique choice of suspension systems, best possible visibility, and widest choice of optional equipment.

Braves Score 9-5 Upset Triumph Over Millerton Red Sox

Tigers Moving in AL Race

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With apologies to the old Boston Braves, the Detroit Tigers may be basing their hopes for the American League pennant on soccer, rain and Denny McLain.

The Braves, who won the 1948 National League pennant with two outstanding pitchers, Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain, charged into the World Series with the battle cry: "Spahn and Sain and pray for rain."

The Tigers, with a strange combination of circumstances behind them, were allowed to pitch their ace, McLain, somewhat out of rotation Thursday night and he responded with a seven-hit, 4-0 victory over Baltimore, lifting the Tigers back into third place in the American League.

Washington took Kansas City 6-4 while Cleveland at league leading Chicago were rained out in the other Thursday night games. Boston edged California 6-5 in 10 innings and New York whipped Minnesota 6-2 in afternoon action.

The Tigers, forced out of Detroit because of race riots, had four days off in Baltimore because of a combination of rain and a stadium commitment to a soccer game.

McLain, a 23-year-old right-hander, took advantage of the rest, struck out four, walked none and kept the Orioles' hits well spread in gaining his 12th victory of the season.

It was Detroit's fifth victory in six games and lifted them into third place, 3½ games back of the leading White Sox. Baltimore's loss was its sixth in seven and sent the Orioles reeling into eighth place, one percentage point back of Cleveland.

Dick McAuliffe provided the principal offensive support, driving in two runs with a homer and a single. The other Tiger runs crossed on RBI singles by Willie Horton and Ray Oyler.

Washington rushed in five men before a man was out in the first inning and coasted in against Kansas City. Cap Peterson drove in two with a homer and Frank Howard two more with a triple. Camilo Pascual

U.S. Swimmers Gain Nine Gold Medals

By JERRY LISK
WINNIPEG, Canada (AP)—The sizzling Pan-American swimming pool which cooked up five world records in two days cooled off today in a comparative lull before the United States, already burdened by gold medals, sends its powerful track team into action Saturday.

The bristling U. S. swimming array which piled up nine of 11 possible gold medals in two days and fantastic 16-year-old Elaine Tanner of Canada, who accounted for two world women's backstroke marks, got a respite in the aquatic program which resumes Saturday.

That's also when Head Coach Dutch Warmerdam loses his Yank track and field team for an expected near sweep of gold medals in a weeklong 24-event program.

Three world swim marks were set Thursday night and two Wednesday night.

As expected, the fifth Pan-Am Games have been no-contest for Uncle Sam's huge athletic squad which has accounted for 28 gold medals out of 34 since the 20-sport carnival began Monday.

Thursday, for instance, the United States won every one of 18 finals contested except the women's 100-meter backstroke which went to the incredible Miss Tanner in a world record time of 1:07.3 and the two-lap cycle sprint won by Roger Gibson of Trinidad-Tobago.

Good Relief By Thomas Saves Win

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Combining the near-perfect relief pitching of Ron Thomas with some timely hitting, the Kingston Braves dealt Millerton its initial setback of the Interstate League season, 9-5, Thursday at Dietz Stadium.

The pivotal decision moved the Braves into a second place tie with the Red Sox.

Thomas relieved starter Ted Bredm in the sixth inning with two runs in and runners on first and second with one out. The former Wagner College ace proceeded to retire 11 of the 12 batters he faced, nailing four of them on whiffs.

Rough Greeting

The Braves greeted Joe McDermott, the Millerton ace, with three runs in their first at bats. A hit by Dave Horton began the fireworks. He was bunted to second by Lou Perry and all hands were safe when a play was made at the key-stone sack.

After Jerry Hawkins forced Perry at second base, he wandered off first in an attempt to distract McDermott. The veteran chucker stopped his motion and a balk was called, allowing Horton to score and sending Hawkins to second.

Chick Boice, who had a perfect night, drew a walk before Pete Watzka singled and John Eccleston hit a sacrifice fly.

Bredm, who left two runners stranded in the first session, surrendered two runs in the third on two walks (one intentional) and hits by Jack Dexter and catcher Gerry DeFiglio.

The Red Sox knotted the count in the fifth when Joe Molinaro singled with two outs, stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch.

McDermott, who settled down after that shaky start, struck out five batters in the third and fourth innings and appeared to be getting stronger. He didn't record an out in the fifth.

Lou Starts Rally

Perry began the surge with a single and Hawkins followed with a booming triple over Molinaro's head in left field. Boice stroked the second of his four singles to score Hawkins and chase McDermott.

Molinaro, who came in from left field to pitch, was touched for John Eccleston's infield hit and a bloop two-run double by Ron Valle.

Bream's control deserted him in the sixth. He walked Ed Cannon and Rocky Veronesi with one out. Hank Schultz grounded to third and when Watzka booted the ball, the bases became loaded.

Thomas to Rescue

When Dexter followed with a line single to center to chase home Cannon and Veronesi, manager Dick Bartsch brought in Thomas. Ronnie couldn't have been better.

He retired 10 straight batters before plunking Blanchfield with a pitch with two outs in the ninth. He then got Molinaro on a ground ball to end the game.

The Braves scored a pair of insurance markers in the eighth on Valle's third hit, a sacrifice by Thomas, a walk to Horton, Perry's single up the middle and a sacrifice fly by Hawkins to deep left.

DIETZ JOTTINGS — The paid crowd was 68, many of them coming from the Millerton area. . . Boice, who had four singles and a walk, drew the biggest cheers when he swiped second base in the fifth inning. . . McDermott, who had some minor league experience, couldn't keep his curve ball down. It cost him dearly. . . Only three bulbs were out, making conditions for seeing the ball a little better. . . Blanchfield was taken to the hospital after one of Thomas' pitches got away in the ninth and struck him on the helmet near the temple. The ball broke the lower part of the helmet. . . Houston Duo Now Trio

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Houston's dynamic duo, about the only thing that has kept the Astros from falling through the bottom of the National League this season, is showing signs of becoming a threesome.

Joe Morgan, now genuinely out of the hitting slump that plagued him through the early part of the season, won a game for the Astros with a run-scoring single in the bottom of the ninth for the second straight time as Houston trimmed Pittsburgh 5-4 Thursday night.

"Look at my roomie," Jim Wynn said when it was over, "taking all the glory."

"You don't want me in the act?" answered Morgan. "You and Rusty Staub have been taking all the glory all year. It's about time you leave a little room for me."

Staub, leading the league in hitting at .358—he went three-for-four Thursday—and Wynn, tops in runs batted in with 76, have been doing most of Houston's heavy hitting till Morgan's renaissance. But despite their best efforts the club is mired in the cellar, 18 games off the pace.

In other National League games, Atlanta beat Cincinnati 4-1, Philadelphia bounced San Francisco 8-3 and Los Angeles edged New York 7-6 in 11 innings.

Morgan, batting as low as .063 at one point in the early going, is now pounding the ball at a .295 clip and is riding an 11-game hitting streak.

Wednesday against Philadelphia, he singled in the winning run in the ninth and Thursday, after Ron Davis tied the game with a run-scoring single, Morgan came up with the winner.

The Braves got all their runs in the first inning, with Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou hitting homers that drove Sammy Ellis from the mound before he could get anybody out. Ken Johnson, 10-4, was the winner.

Billy Cowan and Bobby Wine hit homers in Philadelphia's five-run third inning and Richie Allen got his third homer in as many days in the first. John Bozzer went the distance to win his third game.

Jack Fisher, the sixth Mets' pitcher wild-pitched Nate Oliver in with the winning run after the Mets had tied the score with a run in the ninth. Both teams scored three times in the eighth inning of the 3-hour, 50-minute contest.

Boros Shoots 70 In Golf Tourney

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Only five others broke par in Thursday's opening round, and five others were even with it.

The sharply honed veteran Julius Boros, with three tournament titles in the bag this year, missed from the tourney eyed the Minnesota Golf Classic as another good possibility to day after an opening-round 70.

Boros tied with two lesser lights on the pro circuit in Thursday's first round course, which plays 7,220 yards with par 72.

They were Ray Floyd of St. Andrews, Ill., who won the Minnesota tournament two years ago and Dick Lotz, Hayward, Calif.

Defending champion Bobby Nichols shot a 76.

One stroke back of the leaders at 71 were Larry Mowry, Fort Worth, Tex., and Harold Henning of South Africa.

Miami, Denver Meet In Exhibition Tilt

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The exhibition pro football season opens Saturday night in Akron, Ohio, which means the championship season in both the National and American Leagues isn't far off.

The Miami Dolphins and the Denver Broncos, two AFL clubs, are pitted against each other in a game that marks the return to the pro sport of Lou Saban.

Saban resigned as coach of the Buffalo Bills to become head coach at the University of Maryland then left the Terps to become coach at Denver.

The NFL exhibition season opens next Wednesday with New Orleans playing Los Angeles at Anaheim.

Fullback Gene Foster, the last of the San Diego Chargers' three mutineers, returned to training camp Thursday. He was fined a total of $1,600 by Coach - General Manager Sid Gillman. That included $100 for each of six practice drills he missed.

Former U.S. Open champions Jack Fleck, Tommy Bolt and Gene Littler failed to qualify for the last 36 holes of the recent championship. Fleck and Bolt missed by one shot with 149s. Littler missed by three with 151.

Bostic Is Defeated In State Tournament

Harvey Bostic of Kingston was eliminated in the third round of the New York State Amateur Golf championship Thursday at Nassau Country Club in Glen Cove.

Fred Woerner, Port Jervis, decided Bostic, 4 and 2, in the third round. However, Woerner was a 3 and 2 victim of Charles Murphy Jr., of Albany in the fourth round.

Starting today's quarter-final matches, all area golfers have been eliminated.

Ricky Spears, Port Jervis, the 1966 runnerup, lost, 1-up on the 19th hole to Bill Edwards.

West Hampton. Both shot 69 during regulation play but Edwards birdied the extra hole to win the close decision.

Other area golfers falling by the wayside were Heinz Mevs, Wappingers Falls and John Pretak, Poughkeepsie.

Mews, the Herdgen Invitational champion for 1967, was beaten, 2-up by Carey Watson, Camillus. Pretak lost 3 and 2 to Jack Callahan of Schenectady.

In today's quarter-finals, John Baldwin, Port Washington, was slated to meet Edwards; Gene Francis, Sea Cliff, was slated to play Supreme Court Justice Joseph Gagliardi, Mamaroneck; Bill Tryon, Elmira, was scheduled to oppose Jim Bostwick, Jericho and Murphy was set to play John Cuomo, Utica.

The 36-hole finals are scheduled for Saturday.

Best kickoff return artist among the major college players in 1966 was Mississippi State's Marcus Rhodes. He took 26 kickoffs for 572 yards, beating out John Ginter of Indiana by 40 yards.

Perry's Grill took a step nearer the City Softball League regular season championship with a 9-3 win over last place Gordon's Bar Thursday at Upper Hasbrouck Park.

Billy Costello, still suffering from arm miseries, struggled until the seventh frame to pick up the verdict. Mike Amato was called in to get the final out.

Costello allowed only two hits but he walked a dozen batters. Starter Gene Palladino was the loser.

The league leaders put this one away early, getting four runs in each of the third and fourth frames.

Bears Nip Stars, 23-22, in Practice
RENSELAER, Ind. (AP)—The College All-Stars and the Chicago Bears paraded in a 1967 football preview Thursday and both teams passed their tests with top grades.

The All-Stars, who will meet the professional champion Green Bay Packers in football's midsummer classic Aug. 4 in Chicago's Soldier Field, proved themselves capable of the task.

The Bears won 23-22 on Bruce Alford's 39-yard field goal on the last play of the practice game.

"This is one of the greatest All-Star squads I've ever seen," said Bear owner-coach George Halas after the game.

Dear Abby

Man Good as Lover Only?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I was talking with my boy friend and the subject of "men friends" came up. He said there was no such thing as "men friends." That they all had only one thing in mind, and there wasn't a man alive (married or single) who would care to be with a woman just for the sake of conversation and companionship.

We got into quite a heated argument over this as I have quite a few male acquaintances whom I consider "friends" and nothing more. What is your opinion, Abby? I would also like the opinions of your men readers as

I want to know if they think the way my boy friend does.
DIANE
DEAR DIANE: Tell your boy friend to speak for himself and not to implicate every other male in the world. Furthermore, if my "boy friend" ever made such a statement, I wouldn't trust him out of my sight.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married a short while. Last month we went to visit his mother in another state. I found his mother to be very unclean about herself, and her house was filthy. She even talks dirty.

Abby, I don't mean to be unkind about his mother, but I have never experienced anything quite like it. My husband is a very clean person. He must take after his father who is dead. When we got home I told my husband I would never go to his mother's again unless she cleaned up her house. He admitted the house was a mess and so was his mother, but he thinks I am being unreasonable. Tell me your opinion of this, please.

NO PIG
DEAR NO PIG: Your husband could ask his mother to clean up her house, but if she is personally unclean, and talks dirty there is little he can do about that. I think you are within your rights, however, to refuse to stay in a house that isn't "fit for pigs."

DEAR ABBY: I have a big problem, which you will probably consider immature and stupid. I am a normal girl of 16 with both satisfactory looks and personality. My problem is when I like a boy, and go after him, if I get him I don't like him any more. He usually has asked me to go steady by that time and I say yes because I hate to hurt his feelings, but I always end up breaking up with him and hurting him anyhow.

On the other hand, if I don't get him, I like him so much I get jealous if I see him with another girl, but I know if I were to get him I would only end up hating him. Please, Abby, give me advice, not a sermon.

PERPLEXED
DEAR PERPLEXED: "The only advice" I can give you is to admit that you enjoy the "chase" more than the prize. It is a kind of immaturity which some people never outgrow. But I hope you will because there can be little happiness for the girl who wants a man only until she wins him. And consider, too, the innocent victims along the way.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CALL ME ZEY": Money can buy comfort, convenience, diversion, and security. But the only "love" money can buy is that which you can get from a dog.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Hanging a Partner High on a 5-Bid

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
No one likes to go down at a slam contract but what players really hate is to get to that never-never land between game and slam and then go down one trick. There is no extra bonus for bidding and making five in a major or four or five no-trump.

North's bidding is an excellent example of how you can hang your partner for having a bad hand. South was never given a chance to play at four hearts.

Fortunately for North, South was able to work out a play to make the five-heart contract. His problem was to work out ways to get back to his own hand. He started his campaign by leading a low club from dummy at trick two. West's king took his queen. At this point West could have upset South's apple cart in several ways but he decided to lead a second spade. South ruffed with dummy's six and led a club to his jack.

Then he proceeded to ruff his last spade with the ace of hearts, lead dummy's jack of hearts and overtake with his queen after East ducked.

The ten of hearts continuation took care of East's king. East led the queen of diamonds in the hope that South would try to cash dummy's ace of clubs but South was equal to the occasion. He led dummy's last low club, ruffed, played out his trumps and made the last two tricks with dummy's ace of diamonds and ace of clubs.

How bad was North's bidding? Not very bad. He really held a terrific hand and South could have had more than he did.

'Maya' -- Real India Event

By FRANK and MAURICE KING

For CYNTHIA LOWRY EDITOR'S NOTE—Most of vision series with foreign backgrounds are shot on the back lots of Hollywood studios. In recent seasons there has emerged an interest in authentic backgrounds — a lot of "I Spy" is filmed on location, for instance — but NBC's forthcoming "Maya" series, aimed at the youthful television audience, is entirely on location in India. We're taking our time — two weeks for each episode — and we're trying to do it right. "Maya" is the story of teenage boys and an elephant — and their trek across the vast subcontinent. The American boy is in India looking for his father, a hunter believed killed by the tigers that were his prey. He falls in with the Indian boy Raji, an orphan, and his companions, the elephants.

trail blazing by shooting the programs entirely in India. The authors are two-thirds of the team of brothers who are producing the adventure series starring two teen-age boys and an elephant.

BOMBAY, India, (AP) — We are filming "Maya" in India for the simplest possible reason: you couldn't duplicate this place on any motion picture set or in any other locale in the world.

You couldn't begin to match the vast variety of natural splendor, manmade magnificence or historical significance of this land.

For example, in our first episode, several scenes take place in and outside of a maharaja's palace. We were able to shoot those scenes, both interior and exterior, at a real maharaja's estate in Bombay.

Ours is the first American television series to be filmed

FUNNY BIRDS

No. Funny-looking, maybe. But functional. Built for work. His natural habitat is high grass, weedy brush. He mows them down tiny blades of grass to 14-inch saplings. With 36° or 44° snout.

He floats over rough terrain—safer, faster, easier—with a longer proven life span—even before medication.

You see more JARI in the yards and on the grounds of America than any other bird. Insects on JARI.

He'll reward your good judgment with a delicately flavored

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Marines invaded the southern half of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam today for the second time in the war. Their targets were the North Vietnamese mortar and artillery positions which have been shelling Leatherneck posts just south of the zone.

The U.S. Command also announced another dogfight over North Vietnam with a MIG21 probably shot down and seven U.S. plane losses over the North which had not been revealed before.

There was no immediate report that the Marines had encountered any enemy opposition.

It was the first American penetration into the three-mile-wide southern half of the zone since May 19, when the Marines and South Vietnamese troops invaded the southern sector to root out North Vietnamese gun positions. The allied force withdrew after a week.

U.S. Command said since the Communists have again begun digging in artillery and

A move is underway to revive the early days in the mountains by renaming a section of Route 28 between Phenicia to Mt. Tremper.

Clifford Segelken of Phenicia is spearheading a drive to revive the name Plank Road which was the original designation for Route 28. A number of residents support the plan.

When the new Route 28 is completed this summer it is expected the New York State Highway Department will install signs at the intersection naming this portion of the highway Old Route 28.

Segelken with Mrs. William McGrath of Phenicia and Miss Evelyn Craig of Woodland Valley, members of the Ulster County Historical Society, strongly support the Old Plank Road designation. This name appears on many of the old deeds of lands adjoining the highway. The old toll house, slightly modernized still stands along the highway as it did when the teamsters and stage travelers passed.

Simultaneous endorsement of Supreme Court Justice Lawrence H. Cooke of Monticello for the New York State Court of Appeals last May be the executive committee of the Sullivan County Democratic organization and the Sullivan County Bar Association lent weight to Justice Cook's effort to reach the State's highest court.

Presides Here Justice Cooke has frequently presided at terms of Supreme Court in Ulster County since his election to the Supreme Court bench in 1961, when he can, New York City, who is

The plane losses announced today brought the total number U.S. combat planes reported lost over the north to 624. The rate of losses over the north is now running at slightly more

Air strikes against North Vietnam continued undiminished Thursday, U.S. headquarters said 150 missions were flown mostly against supply lines between the Hanoi-Haiphong area and the 17th parallel border with South Vietnam. But one Air Force group hit the rail line connecting Hanoi with the industrial area of Thanh Nguyen 4 miles above the border.

The Marine penetration of the demilitarized zone was the most significant ground action reported although the U.S. Command said scattered contacts

U.S. Command said the latest jet downed was an Air Force Phantom Wednesday, with both crewmen listed as missing.

The Plank Road was started shortly after the Civil War, due to the heavy wagons hauling blue stone and lime from the tanneries in the Town of Shandaken. The road was lined with hotels and taverns for the drivers. It was no unusual scene to see 50 teams following as closely as possible and in the fall when the Delaware butter was being shipped the traffic was even heavier.

The Shandaken teamsters took about three days for the round trip to Rondout. There was no railroad in these days in the Catskills and the road east was planked in low places on one side, eastbound to Rondout. This was due to the heavy wagons going loaded and returning practically empty.

The present section of Route 28 from Phoenicia to Mt. Tremper is all that remains of the Plank Road. From Phoenicia to Pine Hill and into Margaretville, a new road with the right-of-way is far from the original road bed. From Cold Brook to Rondout, most of the old road is now in the bottom of the Ashokan Reservoir as are the many long forgotten villages that once prospered, as the highway, or turnpike, as it was called, wound its way from the mountains to the Hudson.

A petition will be drawn by Segelken and others interested in returning the turnpike to its original name and sent to the town board, highway department, State Senator Jay P. Rollison and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson.

Judge Cooke told Sullivan County officials he would accept the designation if it is tendered him.
